Symposium on Citizenship

Wake Forest University

407 Benson University Center

Friday, April 27, 2007

9:30 to 11: “Citizenship and Journalism”

“Newspapers’ struggles to connect with the public: Journalism’s resistance to social action communications as propaganda,” Burton St. John III, Assistant Professor, Communication and Theater Arts Department, Old Dominion University

Respondents:

Allen Joines, Mayor of Winston-Salem

Ken Otterbourg, Managing Editor of the Winston-Salem Journal

Justin Catanoso, Executive Editor, The Business Journal in the Triad, and Visiting Instructor, Department of English, Wake Forest University

Mary Martin Niepold, Visiting Instructor, Department of English, Wake Forest University

Student Moderators: Emily Goldman ‘08, Lauren Henn ‘08

11 to 12:30: “Citizenship and War”
“Soldiering for Citizenship,” Angela Hattery, Zachary T. Smith Professor, and Earl Smith, Rubin Professor of American Ethnic Studies, Department of Sociology, Wake Forest University

“Women in Iraq,” Ashley Graham, ‘08, Wake Forest University

Respondents:

Elizabeth Anker, Assistant Professor, Department of English, Wake Forest University

Colonel Frederick J. Britton, HQ INSCOM., Wake Forest University Parent

Robert Hellyer, Assistant Professor, Department of History, Wake Forest University

Ron Von Burg, Assistant Professor, Department of Communication Studies, Christopher Newport University

Student Moderators: Brett Hubler ‘07, Anna Laakman ‘08

1-2: Lunch

2 to 3:30: “Growing up American”

Hall Wang, ‘08, Wake Forest University

Sajid Ghaffar ‘08, Wake Forest University

Nancy Bialasz ‘08, Wake Forest University

Respondents:

Alexandra Britton, Wake Forest University Parent

Ana M. Wahl, Assistant Professor, Department of Sociology, Wake Forest University

Alisa Kessel, Visiting Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science, Wake Forest University
Stephanie Pellet, Assistant Professor, Romance Languages, Wake Forest University

Student Moderators: Teresa Hastings ‘08, Kevin Koehler ‘08

4 to 5:30: “Avenues for Participation for College Student in the Electoral Process”

“Investigating Coffeehouses as the New Public Sphere: The 9/11 Attacks and Public Sphere Discussion” Marc Howard Rich, Christopher Newport University

Antony Khamala (Khamala), Organizer, Democracy North Carolina

Ashley Lubenkov ‘07, Campus Coordinator, President Democracy Matters, Wake Forest University

Daryn Cambridge, Regional Coordinator of Democracy Matters, American University

Thomas Jenkins, Coordinator for Democracy Matters, Winston-Salem State University

Katy Harriger, WFU Faculty Advisor for Democracy Matters, Professor, Department of Political Science, Wake Forest University

Allan Louden, Director of Debate, Associate Professor, Department of Communication, Wake Forest University

Student Moderators: Ashley Spooner ‘08, Sarah Waite ‘08

Contact:
Alessandra Beasley
Department of Communication
Box 7347, Reynolda Station
Wake Forest University
Winston-Salem, NC 27109
336-758-4441
Email: beaslea@wfu.edu
Website: http://www.wfu.edu/~beaslea/symposium.html